dianapolis his qualification to vote would be citizenship, residence, age and registration. If registration in this state adds an additional qualification to the voter, a legal voter under Section 832 will have a different qualification in Shelbyville than if he were a resident of Indianapolis.

"If a person who is a legal voter and voted for the mayor of Shelbyville in the November election of 1913 were to move to the First ward in Indianapolis, as soon as he had voted, in the November election, he could not sign a remonstrance and would not be a legal voter of the First ward until he had registered for the November election in the year 1917, if registration was an additional qualificaegistration was an additional qualifica-

Protest to Board.

Several property owners living near the school protested to the board that the order to stop the cars is not being obeyed by many of the motormen.

"Do you mean to say that those cars are not being stopped there?" sternly asked Mr. Rink.

"Yes, sir," timidly answered the property owners, not understanding the display of wrath.

It was evident that a squall was approaching in the board of works office. A heavy gale rocked Mr. Rink's good humon as all hands were ordered on deck.

"Get Todd for me on that telephone."

The command was above analyzed, are as follows:

"I. California in its Constitution provides for a registration before any person can vote in such cities; but registration does not add an additional qualification to a voter.

"Under the Virginia code, a person entitled 'to vote' was held not to mean a person who was registered, within the meaning of their statute, defining the qualification for jurors, although their code provides that before a person is 'entitled to vote' upon any question,' he must be a registered voter.
